By Cassie Gustafson

In her debut novel, After the Ink Dries, Cassie Gustafson weaves a haunting and lyrical tale of love, loss, and the transformative power of storytelling.

The novel follows the story of Nora, a young woman grappling with the sudden death of her husband, Alex. As she struggles to come to terms with her grief, Nora finds solace in her memories of their time together. Through her writing, she pieces together the fragments of their love story, hoping to find meaning and healing in the words.

Nora's journey is both heartbreaking and hopeful. As she writes, she not only confronts her own grief, but also explores the universal themes of love, loss, and the human condition. Gustafson's prose is both raw and poetic, capturing the complexities of grief and the resilience of the human spirit.

After the Ink Dries is a powerful and moving novel that will resonate with anyone who has ever experienced loss. Gustafson's writing is honest, compassionate, and ultimately uplifting. This is a novel that will stay with you long after you finish reading it.

Quotes

“The act of writing is like peeling back the layers of an onion. It's painful, but it's also cathartic. It's the only way I can make sense of this mess.”

- Nora, After the Ink Dries

“Grief is a strange and unpredictable thing. It can come in waves, or it can linger like a constant ache. It can make you feel lost and alone, but it can also bring you closer to the people you love.”

- Nora, After the Ink Dries

“The hardest part of losing someone you love is not the pain, but the emptiness. The feeling that something is missing, and that it will never be filled.”

- Nora, After the Ink Dries
