Dear Molly,

I am writing to you today to express my concern about the goat that you recently acquired. I understand that you were excited to get a goat, but I am worried that you may not be prepared for the responsibility of caring for one.

Goats are social animals and require a lot of attention and care. They need to be fed, watered, and exercised regularly. They also need to be protected from predators and the elements.

I am concerned that you may not have the time or resources to properly care for a goat. I know that you are a busy person, and I am worried that the goat may not be getting the attention it needs.

I would urge you to reconsider keeping the goat. If you are not able to provide it with the proper care, it would be better to find a home for it where it can be properly cared for.

I know that this is a difficult decision, but I believe it is the right one for the goat. I hope you will understand my concerns.

Sincerely,

Olive

P.S. I have attached a list of resources that may be helpful to you if you decide to keep the goat.
