What is a Non-Reflowable Ebook?

A non-reflowable ebook is a type of ebook that has a fixed layout. This means that the text and images in the ebook will not reflow or change when the reader changes the font size or screen size. This is in contrast to reflowable ebooks, which allow the reader to adjust the text and images to fit their screen size.

There are several advantages to creating a non-reflowable ebook. First, non-reflowable ebooks can be more visually appealing than reflowable ebooks. This is because you have more control over the layout and design of your ebook. Second, non-reflowable ebooks are more likely to be consistent across different devices. This is because the layout and design of the ebook will not change when the reader changes devices.
